Our guest speaker on 27/08 was Doug McEvoy, Chair of the Southeast Residents Association of the City of Adelaide.

Doug's presentation covered the challenges facing restoring green canopy to 'Pakapakanthi' being that section of the East Parklands which had been the Victoria Park Racecourse for about 130 years. Subsequent use for motorsport and other recreational uses has provided challenges in restoring shade trees to this large area. One project has been initiating trials of 'pocket forests' using the Miyawaki method developed in Japan many decades ago and adopted worldwide. The technique suggests that planting varieties of shrubs and trees of various sizes more densely in small areas than is usual, provides a more rapid and successful reestablishment of green canopy and biodiversity. It is near the new wetlands, supported by the Adelaide City Council and volunteers, including local schools. Doug's presentation stimulated much discussion, and opportunity will be provided for people to see this area during the Walk for Mental Health on October 13.

Take my Hand

As a vibrant young Australian woman, Laura forges a successful banking career in London and seemingly has the perfect marriage. Her world is turned upside down when she is diagnosed with multiple sclerosis and her husband starts to show his true colours. When a tragic accident leaves Laura a widowed mother with three sons, she returns home to Australia, and is reunited with Michael, a high school friend and a divorcee with one daughter, who has loved Laura since they were teenagers. In each other with their newly merged family in the small country town they grew up in – the couple's lifelong search for happiness, peace and mutual love is finally realised.
